

“CAN I KISS YOU?” for Colleges & Universities

Introduction for Mike “Dom ish”

Pronounced like the “Amish” culture with a “D” in front of it.

Listen to the pronunciation at: <https://vimeo.com/201285280>

PLEASE choose someone who will have FUN with the Introduction, especially the first 3 questions asked in the Introduction below.*

Before we get started, please raise your right hand. Now with that hand, grab your cell phone . . . and TURN IT ON TO VIBRATE.

Today's show will involve the discussion of intimacy and sexual decision-making. While lots of the show will be fun, there will also be serious matters discussed. For this reason, if any part of the program makes you uncomfortable, advocates will be available at the back of the room to talk with at any time during the program. Now, lets get started . . .

Would you love a way to make intimacy feel more natural, passionate and fun? Do you wish you could eliminate the silly mind games some people play? Do you have a friend who could really use some help in the world of dating and intimacy? If you answered, “Yes” to any of those questions, get ready to have fun discovering new strategies for dating and intimacy.

Today’s guest speaks to tens of thousands people around the world each year – from college campuses to speaking on aircraft carriers to being a guest expert on Dateline NBC. His book: “Can I Kiss You?” hit #1 in Teen & Young Adult Dating when it was released on Amazon!

Help us have a discussion we do not normally get to have on intimacy and asking for what we want or don’t want ... by welcoming author & speaker:

Mike “Dom ish” (pronounced "Amish" with a "D" as d-amish)

Listen to the pronunciation at: <https://vimeo.com/201285280>

PO Box 269, Mukwonago, WI 53149-0269

Toll-Free: 800-329-9390

www.CenterForRespect.com ♦ hello@centerforrespect.com