SEX. YES. NO. – and much More

Nationally-renown author and expert on campus on _____ (date).

With all the recent media attention on high profile celebrities and their sex lives, how are today’s students in high schools and on college campuses dealing with all the unhealthy sexual culture? How do they decide what is “okay” and what is “not okay” to do with a partner intimately? The old clichés of “keep it your pants” or “a young woman would never . . .” were not effective and certainly not healthy.

On _____, at _____ PM in the _____ (location), XXX is bringing nationally renowned author and expert, Mike Domitrz, to share the keys to handling intimacy. As the Founder of The Center for Respect, Domitrz’s approach is blunt, thought-provoking, and entertaining – while being sensitive issue to this important topic. The program will reveal 3 life-changing approaches most students have never heard!

Campuses praise Domitrz for how he presents an old issue with a refreshing viewpoint. You are provided with real solutions to talking about sex and boundaries. Students love how the program uses both humor and hard-hitting emotion to give them skills they can easily implement into their own lives instantly (literally by the time they walk out of the event).

Mike Domitrz has traveled the world for over a decade sharing with people of all lifestyles and backgrounds. He has spoken with professional athletes and are often utilized as an expert source for TV news and radio shows.
