

TABLE OF CONTENTS for INTRODUCTIONS:

ONSITE EVENTS:

Onsite Student Programs	p2
Onsite “Train the Trainer” Programs	p3
Onsite Staff/Faculty RESPECT Program	p4

LIVE VIRTUAL EVENTS:

Live Virtual Student Programs	p5
Live Virtual “Train the Trainer” Programs	p6
Live Virtual Staff/Faculty RESPECT Program	p7

INTRODUCTION FOR ONSITE STUDENT PROGRAMSIntroduction for Mike “Dom ish”

pronounced like the “Amish” culture with a “D” in front of it.

Listen to the pronunciation at: <https://vimeo.com/201285280>

Before we get started, please raise your right hand. Now with that hand, grab your cell phone . . . and turn it to vibrate – so that we can start the program.

All OTHER electronics must be turned off – including computers. Thank you.

Today's show will involve the discussion of intimacy and relationships. While lots of the show will be fun, there will also be serious matters discussed. For example, you will hear today's speaker address the very serious crime of sexual assault. For this reason, if at any time you feel uncomfortable, counselors will be available at the back of the room. To help students from becoming overwhelmed with the seriousness of the topic, humor is woven throughout the program. The humor is never at the topic of sexual assault. Most of the humor is included to highlight myths society has taught over the years. Today is designed to make us think, have honest conversations, strengthen our respect for others, gain new skills, and have some fun along the way. Let's get started . . .

Do you have friends who could use some help in the world of dating and intimacy?

If so, then yell “Oh Yeah!” Then today is for you.

As the Founder of The Center for Respect, our guest speaker has produced 2 critically acclaimed books, a FUN T-shirt line, and spoken on 5 continents to TENS OF THOUSANDS of people EACH YEAR. On TV & Radio, he has appeared in over 40 shows – including being on “Dateline NBC.” In 2022, he was inducted into the National Speaker's Association Hall of Fame.

Our guest loves traveling the country speaking with students! Prepare to get involved by standing up and giving a warm & WILD welcome to: Mike “Dom ish”

(Pronounced "Amish" with a "D" as d-amish).

Listen to the pronunciation at: <https://vimeo.com/201285280>

INTRODUCTION FOR ONSITE TRAIN the TRAINER with Mike “Dom ish”

Pronounced like the “Amish” culture with a “D” in front of it.

Listen to the pronunciation at:* <https://vimeo.com/201285280>

Before we get started, please raise your right hand. Now with that hand, grab your cell phone . . . and turn it to VIBRATE – so that we can start the program.

Today, we’ve created a special opportunity for you to talk with our guest speaker on campus. As the Founder of The Center for Respect and as a Hall of Fame Speaker, each year he travels the world sharing The Center for Respect’s mission on college campuses, military installations, and businesses of all sizes – for audiences as small as 10 people and as large as 5,000. You may have seen him quoted in The Wall Street Journal or in Forbes or seen him as a guest expert on Dateline NBC. In 2022, he was inducted into the National Speaker’s Association Hall of Fame. Now, we have this unique chance for a small group discussion with him.

PLEASE use this opportunity to have fun ASKING him questions, SHARING ideas, and PARTICIPATING. We only have _____ minutes and so lets make the most of every minute.

Mike “Dom ish”. (pronounced "Amish" with a "D" as d-amish).

Listen to the pronunciation at:* <https://vimeo.com/201285280>

INTRODUCTION FORLIVE ONSITE SESSION on RESPECT in the WORKPLACE

with Mike “Dom ish”. Pronounced like the “Amish” culture with a “D” in front of it.

Listen to the pronunciation at: <https://vimeo.com/201285280>

Before we get started, please raise your right hand. Now with that hand, grab your cell phone . . . and turn it to VIBRATE – so that we can start the program.

You may have read one of his quotes in major publications such as the Wall Street Journal or Forbes or maybe you’ve seen him as a featured expert on "Dateline NBC."

As the Founder of The Center for Respect, an author, and a Hall-of-Fame speaker, each year, he speaks across globe helping organization create a culture of RESPECT. The country’s top educational institutions, the US Military and organizations of all sizes have been seeking Mike’s expertise for the past 2 decades.

Getting ready. He is high energy and loves to engage audiences. Let’s welcome. Mike Dom Ish

Mike “Dom ish”. (pronounced "Amish" with a "D" as d-amish).

Listen to the pronunciation at: <https://vimeo.com/201285280>

INTRODUCTION FOR LIVE VIRTUAL STUDENT PROGRAMSIntroduction for Mike “Dom ish”

pronounced like the “Amish” culture with a “D” in front of it.

Listen to the pronunciation at: <https://vimeo.com/201285280>

Today's show will involve the discussion of intimacy and relationships. While lots of the show will be fun, there will also be serious matters discussed. For example, you will hear today's speaker address the very serious crime of sexual assault. For this reason, if at any time you feel uncomfortable, counselors will be available in the following Zoom Room at _____ (if you are NOT providing a Zoom Room with Counselors, then please say, “For this reason, please know parts of this program could be difficult for some”). To help students from becoming overwhelmed with the seriousness of the topic, humor is woven throughout the program. The humor is never at the topic of sexual assault. Most of the humor is included to highlight myths society has taught over the years. Today is designed to make us think, have honest conversations, strengthen our respect for others, gain new skills, and have some fun along the way. Let's get started . . .

Do you have friends who could use some help in the world of dating and intimacy? If so, then yell “Oh Yeah!” in the CHAT right now.

As the Founder of The Center for Respect, our guest speaker has produced 2 critically acclaimed books, a FUN T-shirt line, and spoken on 5 continents to TENS OF THOUSANDS of people EACH YEAR. On TV & Radio, he has appeared in over 40 shows – including being on “Dateline NBC.” In 2022, he was inducted into the National Speaker's Association Hall of Fame.

Our guest loves traveling the country speaking with students! He is known for being super high energy and interactive with CHAT. Let's welcome him by saying, “HI!” in the chat to . . . Mike “Dom ish”

(Pronounced "Amish" with a "D" as d-amish).

Listen to the pronunciation at: <https://vimeo.com/201285280>

INTRODUCTION FOR A LIVE VIRTUAL
TRAIN the TRAINER with Mike “Dom ish”
Pronounced like the “Amish” culture with a “D” in front of it.
Listen to the pronunciation at: <https://vimeo.com/201285280>

Today, we’ve created a special opportunity for you to talk with our guest speaker. As the Founder of The Center for Respect and as a Hall of Fame Speaker, each year he works around the world sharing The Center for Respect’s mission with college campuses, military installations, and businesses of all sizes – for audiences as small as 10 people and as large as 5,000. You may have seen him quoted in The Wall Street Journal or in Forbes or seen him as a guest expert on Dateline NBC. In 2022, he was inducted into the National Speaker’s Association Hall of Fame. Now, we have this unique chance for a small group discussion with him.

PLEASE use this opportunity to have fun ASKING him questions, SHARING ideas, and PARTICIPATING. We only have _____ minutes and so let’s make the most of every minute. Let’s kick this off by everyone saying, “Hi!” to him the CHAT right now as we welcome . . .

Mike “Dom ish”. (pronounced "Amish" with a "D" as d-amish).
Listen to the pronunciation at: <https://vimeo.com/201285280>

INTRODUCTION FOR
LIVE VIRTUAL SESSION on RESPECT in the WORKPLACE
with Mike “Dom ish”. Pronounced like the “Amish” culture with a “D” in front of it.

Listen to the pronunciation at: <https://vimeo.com/201285280>

Before we get started, please raise your right hand. Now with that hand, grab your cell phone . . . and turn it to VIBRATE – so that we can start the program.

You may have read one of his quotes in major publications such as the Wall Street Journal or Forbes or maybe you’ve seen him as a featured expert on "Dateline NBC."

As the Founder of The Center for Respect, an author, and a Hall-of-Fame speaker, each year, he speaks across globe helping organization create a culture of RESPECT. The country’s top educational institutions, the US Military and organizations of all sizes have been seeking Mike’s expertise for the past 2 decades.

Getting ready. He is high energy and loves to engage audiences. Let’s welcome. Mike Dom Ish by saying “Hi!” in the CHAT!!

Mike “Dom ish”. (pronounced "Amish" with a "D" as d-amish).
Listen to the pronunciation at: <https://vimeo.com/201285280>